Niagara Mills

Three miles from Pleasant Mount, come to a barn with a red roof, turn left, up 3/4 mi. was Niagara Mills. All gone now, only foundations remain. Crossmans have 5" X 7" pictures of the former mills (saw, cider, grist). The Crossman house is ¼ mile in on right, the only place, an old plank house.

IWG, p. 27, Niagara Creamery Co.

Following a rather complete account of the Niagara Creamery Co. appears the following paragraph :

> Niagara Falls is a short distance from the creamery. In 1820 grist, saw and carding mills were erected there. The place is now called Kennedy's mills.

Rev. G. Fay Crossman (b. Feb. 19, 1899) was born in Aldenville, and spent the first year of his life (possibly the first five years of his life) in Aldenville. In 1905 the family moved to Whites Valley.
